Sacramento attorney files suit against stadium

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

An entity called "Friends of Sacramento County" filed a lawsuit Friday against the City of West Sacramento raising environmental objections to a planned Triple-A baseball stadium on the city's waterfront.

The lawsuit alleges that the ballpark plan is out of compliance with California environmental laws. It asks that the project go forward "only when potentially significant adverse environmental impacts have been mitigated, and the development is consistent with state and local planning laws, including the applicable general plan and any applicable specific plan."

It asks for an injunction restraining construction of "Raley's Field."

The lawsuit was filed by Sacramento attorney John Latini, who has not returned phone calls from the News-Ledger. Members of Latini's group are not named in the legal papers – leading to speculation among both city officials and baseball promoters about who was behind it.

Several competing baseball proposals are underway in the Sacramento area, and River City Baseball is hoping to build a stadium in time for opening day next April. Team owner Art Savage has bought a Triple-A team and is preparing to move it to the West Sacramento site for the year 2000 season. City officials have speculated that competing interests may be trying to toss a monkey wrench into these plans.

"If you read between the lines, you can get a pretty fair assessment of who is behind it," said Warren Smith, a principal of River City Baseball. "We've worked hard with everyone who has had an environmental issue."

"What they're trying to do is delay," Smith added. "Delay will cost us the opportunity to open in April, 2000. We're investing significant money to be here in 2000, and that affects all the financing, all the cash flow."

But Smith vowed to fight and move on.

"Are we going to let this deter us? Hell no," he said. "We've made it through every obstacle, and we'll make it through this one. They don't really have any legal basis for this. On the traffic impact issue, for example, we did four separate studies."

Smith appealed for public support.

"We need the citizens of West Sacramento to stand up and let themselves be heard if they want this, and I think they do," he stated.

River City Baseball expects a court date in early May, and will ask that the legal action be dismissed.

Delegates to D.C.

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A handful of West Sacramento officials will head to Washington, D.C., from May 1-5 for an annual "capital to capital" session of lobbying.

"The Sacramento Metropolitan Chamber has been doing this for a number of years," explained West Sacramento City Manager Joe Goeden. "This will be our third year. You go back and lobby and try to get help for your city or whatever. A large contingent goes."

From the city, that will include Goeden, Mayor Christopher Cabaldon and city council members Jim Cahill, Mark Montemayor and Bill Kristoff, as well as redevelopment department director Val Toppenberg.

Some of the most important issues for the trip, said Goeden, involve the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The city hopes to persuade the Corps to speed up improvements to the Reclamation District 537 levee near West Sacramento's north area. The city also wants the Corps to "decommission" Stone Lock – officially removing the waterway from active status and allowing the city to make its next bridge over Jefferson Blvd. a fixed bridge instead of a moveable one.

Because the long-disused locks connecting the deep water channel to the Sacramento River remain "commissioned" status, West Sacramento is required to fit its next Jefferson Blvd. bridge across the waterway with a fixed span. Decommissioning the locks would allow the city to instead build a fixed bridge, saving $4 million, said Goeden.

Also on the agenda for the Washington trip are attempts to lobby for funding of regional transportation projects that might include improvements to West Sacramento's Harbor Blvd. and Enterprise Blvd. freeway interchange areas.

The tab for the trip will be approximately $12,380, reports the city manager's office.

Split vote approves study of Gregory site

The city council voted 3-2 on Wednesday for the city to pick up the tab on a traffic study necessary to consider adding another piece of commercial zoning to Jefferson Blvd. in Southport.

The vote approved a $6,380 contract with Fehr & Peers to conduct the study, after a 2-2 tied vote by the council on July 15 left the matter in limbo. The study will analyze changes in traffic that would result from changing 6.14 or 10.6 acres at the intersection of Jefferson Blvd. and Gregory Ave. from residential to commercial zoning.

The land is owned by Vince Frugoli and others, and has become a hot political issue in recent years after Frugoli claimed that the city "downzoned" the property from an original commercial use.

Voting for the study were council members Bill Kristoff, Jim Cahill and Mark Montemayor. Voting against it were Mayor Christopher Cabaldon and Councilman Greg Potnick.

Local Sikhs celebrate 300 years

"In the early 1980s, there were very few Sikh families in California," said Jagat Rye, one of the original founders of the Sikh temple at 2301 Evergreen Avenue. "We had a small temple in Stockton, but many of our members felt one was badly needed in the Sacramento area, so we formed a committee and began praying and rasing funds. When we reached $50,000, we were able to purchase an old church on Evergreen Avenue were our temple now stands, and we began building. In the early 1990s, we purchased two more acres nearby and built a new prayer hall. Now, families who even live quite far away come to our temple, and what started out with the prayers of just 10 or 11 families has grown larger than we would have ever believed. On some weekends, as many as 1000 Sikhs now come to our temple."

There are over 20 million Sikhs worldwide, making it the fifth largest religion in the world. Over 500,000 reside in the USA and about 200,000 live in California. In the Sacramento area alone, there are approximately 15,000 Sikhs.

The Sikh religion was founded by Guru Nanak in the 15th century in the Punjab, a region now divided between India and Pakistan. It preaches universal ideals such as compassion, honesty, humility, piety, social commitment and tolerance for others.

Three hundred years ago this month, Gobind Singh, the tenth Guru of the Sikhs, developed baptism ceremonies which enables the people to become the Khalsa, or the pure ones. Joining the Khalsa is a major step in a Sikh's life. During the entry ritual a candidate vows to defend the faith, serve others, pray regularly and abstain from alcohol, narcotics and tobacco. Once admitted, the new Khalsa must adhere to a strict code of conduct and possess the highest ethical, moral and spiritual values.

"This year's celebration of Khalsa is very important to Sikhs," said Darshan Mundy, who is in charge of helping publicize the event. "The celebration will start on April 13th and continue through April 25th. Many dignitaries will attend and we will have a seminar with speakers from all over the world on the last day."

Pargan Singh, the chairman of the temple, said, "Beginning this Wednesday, people will be dipping in holy water which has been placed in pools in front of the temple, and then on Friday, the continuous reading of our bible will begin. It is 1400 pages in length, and we will finish the reading on Sunday morning. Also on Sunday, from 9:00 a.m. to 1:30 pm., we will have a health fair at the temple and the whole community is invited to come and have their blood pressure checked and to be screened for other potential health problems. We would like to encourage all our neighbors and anyone else who is interested in learning about the Sikh religion to join us during this very special celebration of our history."

One of the most interesting aspects of the Sikh religion is their holy book of Sikhism, called the Sri Guru Granth

Survey tells WUSD about public & bond

By Daryl Fisher

(Reporter Daryl Fisher is also a volunteer member of the bond committee.)

Last Thursday evening, the West Sacramento School Bond Task Force Steering Committee met at the River City High School library to discuss the results of a voter survey which was recently conducted to determine if West Sacramentans will support a school bond measure to raise funds needed to renovate 50-year-old facilities in the district and also construct new ones.

The telephone survey was administered by Jeremy Thorn of Educational Research Services, a highly respected company based in San Francisco which specializes in assisting California public school districts with bond measures.

Over 600 West Sacramento voters were interviewed at length over the telephone and Thorn reported that "There is clearly a community consensus that new school construction and renovation of existing facilities are needed in the district. The poll data indicate that the district could pass a bond measure to fund selected construction and renovation projects if an organized campaign to educate the public were mounted. There is a definite realization present among the voters that the facilities problems examined here need resolution, and that a bond measure is a viable means of doing so."

More specifically, the telephone survey determined that although the base for support for a facilities bond measure is very broad, it is also constrained by the tax rate needed to fund the proposal, and that tax rate

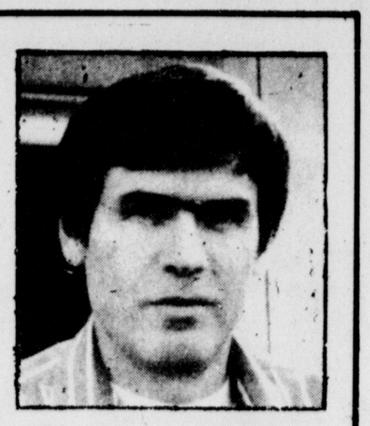
What do you think -- is it better to be a guy or gal?



By Daryl Fisher

I was recently at what can best be described as a social gathering when I suddenly found myself within earshot of two well-dressed women who appeared to be in their late-30s or maybe early-40s. I tried, of course, very hard not to eavesdrop on them, but the acoustics were such that I really couldn't help myself, and I believe part of their rather lengthy conversation went a little something like this:

"It's definitely a man's world!"

"Tell me something I don't know."

"Do men have to give birth to the next generation?"

"No!"

"Do they have to take care of the children after we have them?"

"No!"

"Do they have to be a mother and also have a career outside the home?"

"Absolutely not!"

"Do they have to do all the shopping?"

"No!"

"Do they ever do any of the cooking?"

"If they do, you usually can't eat it."

"Do they ever make an effort to clean up the house?"

"They're slobs!"

And so the conversation went, until their husbands finally returned and both couples smiled warmly at each other and began acting like they couldn't possibly live without one another.

Anyway, the more I got to thinking about it, the more I came to the conclusion that I actually kinda like being a guy, and here are just a few of the reasons I found on the Internet why other men seem to agree with me:

Our shoes don't cut, blister and mangle our feet.

We're not expected to remember birthdays and anniversaries.

Most of our phone conversations are over in less than a minute.

Movie nudity is almost exclusively female.

Bathroom lines at sporting events are 20 times shorter.

We can open all of our own jars.

Our friends don't care if we've recently lost or gained weight.

Dry cleaners and haircutters don't rob us blind.

Our last name always stays put.

We can kill our own food.

We get extra credit for even the slightest act of thoughtfulness.

We can be showered and ready to go in ten minutes.

Our underwear costs $10 for a three-pack.

Wedding plans take care of themselves.

Bachelor parties are more fun than bridal showers.

Chocolate is just another snack.

We can be president of the United States.

We never have to worry about other people's feelings.

Two pair of shoes are more than enough.

We can whip off our shirts on a hot day.

We don't care if anyone notices our new haircut.

Same work, more pay.

Gray hair and wrinkles only add character.

Wedding dresses, $2000 -- rented tuxes, $100.

If we retain water, it's usually in a glass or canteen.

We don't have to shave below the neck.

And probably most important of all, we don't have to carry around a bag of useless stuff everywhere we go.

Joke of the week: A college graduate with an engineering degree is asked, "How can you make that work?" A college graduate with an accounting degree is asked, "How much will that cost me?" A college graduate with a liberal arts degree is asked, "Can I have fries with that?"

"Okay, I'll take a bath! Then can I go home?"

The Sacramento Kings (17-20) have 13 games remaining, as the season heads into the final NBA weeks. The Kings, who are in good position to secure a playoff spot, have 10 home games and only three road games. The Kings schedule starts out a little tough this week as they host Utah on Tuesday night and Seattle on Thursday. If the Kings can win one of these games or both, they should improve their chances of making the post season. The next five opponents may bring a little relief to the Kings starting with Denver on Saturday night. The Kings then travel to Los Angeles to play the Clippers, then come back home to play Golden State, Minnesota and Dallas. This critical five game span will make or break the Kings season. The Kings are battling with Phoenix (18-20), Seattle (18-18), Minnesota (21-17) and Golden State (16-21) for the final two playoff spots. Here's where the fun starts! Every game is a playoff game for the Kings!

Look for some wheeling and dealing as the NFL teams get set for the draft on Saturday, April 17 (ESPN). The rumor is that New Orleans coach Mike Ditka has offered the Cleveland Browns, who have the first pick, the rights to all of the Saints 1999 picks, except the second pick, and their first and second pick next year! Talk about selling the farm! Ditka really wants Texas star running back Ricky Williams. The Browns, who are a expansion franchise, really need to fill their roster with as many players as possible and may take New Orleans offer and pick a quarterback with the Saints 12th pick in the first round. The Raiders own the rights to the 18th pick and the 49ers select 27th.

Who will be the first Pick? Tim Couch? Akili Smith? Ricky Williams? Look for the 49ers to dump QB Drunkenmiller and try and trade up to nab UCLA QB Cade McNown. The Raiders, might try and grab one of those great QB's that everybody is talking about, like Daunte Culpepper or Donovan McNabb, if their still available at the 18th pick!

The Giants (6-1) are off to a great start this season, while the A's (2-4) had the misfortune to open the season against the Yankees. The A's will be in Disneyland for a three game set against the Angels before they visit the Rangers in Texas for another three series. The Giants will be home for few more games this week against the Houston Astros before they pack their bags for weekend series starting on Friday in Arizona.

Three local Sacramento-area amateur boxers won their regional Golden Gloves competition this weekend in Tulare. Heavyweight Hildo Silva, 178-pounder Michael Simms and 165-pounder Daryl Woods gained state berths and will fight on April 24 in Los Angeles. The winners advance to the National Golden Gloves on May 9th in New York.

The Sacramento Geckos (A - League Soccer) will open their season on April 24 7 p.m. at Natomas High school against the San Francisco Bay Seals. Call Geckos' office in Old Sac. at 448-KICK for ticket information.

See ya next week!!

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

A less-than-ideal, but feasible, plan

West Sacramento will not have a new high school in the next five years, and will be fortunate to have one within ten.

That seems a safe statement considering the news out of the Washington Unified School District. Local residents understand that school facilities here are in need of help, says a district survey, but are unwilling to pay more than about $50 per household every year to support a school bond for improvements.

This rules out a new high school – which would require higher bond payments, and perhaps a $60-70 million price tag. But it does leave the door open for the district to intelligently plan a smaller school bond with the goal of upgrading current campus facilities.

This is the good news for the district. By succeeding in developing priorities for such a bond project, and intelligently managing the bond and its money, WUSD officials have a chance to make much-needed improvements on the district's campuses.

The other thing they can accomplish is to earn the trust of local voters and taxpayers. By showing it can get a lot of bang for the taxpayer's buck, WUSD can lay the groundwork for a full-size school bond several years down the road – one that can finance the long-awaited new high school campus.

Guest Commentary:

Keeping children out of danger in Yolo County

From Tom Stallard
Yolo County Supervisor

Welcome to the great adventure, Sabrina Borchard! Though born just a few weeks ago, you are already off to a great start. Why? Well, for one thing, you have in Steve and Kathy the best set of parents a newborn could ask for.

You see, Sabrina, not every child is similarly favored. In fact, at any given moment in time, more than 400 children in Yolo County are in the unfortunate situation of either having no one to care for them or having to be removed from the control of those who should be caring for them. That's where the County of Yolo comes in.

Because we are a caring society, we look to county government to watch out for children who are in danger. At Yolo County, we employ roughly 30 people to do this work. It is an expensive program; all told, over $10 million dollars will be spent this year to care for the needs of these children. Although nothing can replace the tender care of a living mother and father, we do the best we can. Scores of dedicated people from our community come forward to act as foster parents for these children. Oftentimes these children have challenges that require considerable patience on the part of our foster parents. In some cases, the children must be moved more than once before a placement is found that works.

Even after considerable effort has resulted in the identification of a good placement that works, changes occur in the lives of host families and once again, a new home must be found. Although there is plenty of joy when things go right, there is also plenty of frustration when they don't.

Think about the workers who make this system function. They work in a high stress environment where they constantly have to make assessments, and people are always ready to criticize them for their decisions and actions. If something happens to one of the hundreds of children under the authority of these committed workers, the community will read about it on the front pages of the local newspapers the next day.

Can you imagine what it must be like to be uprooted and moved from one home to another? Your clothes would go with you, but not your crib and probably not the toys you were familiar with. It sounds scary, doesn't it? Well, we try very hard to make sure that children who face these situations aren't afraid for long. We want to make sure that children are safe, healthy, happy and we all work diligently to offer our help and support whenever we can.

So, you see, Sabrina, you really do have much to be grateful for. Live thoughtfully, with full awareness of your blessings. Once again, welcome to the great adventure!

The Sacramento River registered 16 feet 5 inches U. S. gauge at the bridge yesterday.

Registration in Yolo County is important to all voters because of the coming elections during the year. There are important decisions to be made. A general State election will be held in November, when all State officials will be elected. It is possible some special elections may be held during the year and at very short notice. No voter should be unprepared and the only preparation necessary is registration. Judge Barry is ready at any moment to register, but people should be reasonable with him when they call for registration. He should not be asked to leave his home at night. He registers at the town hall and at his home. Register at once.

Liberty bonds are on sale at the Postoffice and Postmaster J. N. Bennetts is having considerable success in disposing of them. He is helping Supervisor Leinberger and will be glad to make arrangements for any one wishing to subscribe.

Kench has entire control of the store and enjoys an increasing trade from day to day. She was left a widow several months ago and is trying to make a living for herself and children in this way. She has added considerably to her stock and has enlarged her store furniture to a marked degree. Mrs. Kinch feels very thankful for the patronage extended her. In her place the Ann Arbor Bakery of Sacramento has established an agency for the sale of all goods manufactured by that concern.

Seven children of the Mexican Ambassador to Bolivia, Rafael N. Millan y Alva, are making their home on Mary Street, near Second, to remain several months in this locality. There are five girls and two boys who are chaperoned by their aunt, Mrs. Concepcion Torrescano. The family is closely connected with the Ortiz family, which has made its home here for several years past.

The fish run in the Sacramento river is on in earnest, great piles of salmon being landed every day and striped bass being almost as plentiful. Only few catfish are showing up. Prices up to the present have been good, but are now being reduced. The largest bass caught so far this year weighed 53 pounds.

Verne V. Pankost passed the examination for the Navy last Saturday, with the exception that the physicians exacted from him a promise to have his tonsils removed. So anxious was he to join the forces of Uncle Sam that he went to a surgeon that day and had them removed. He is now in Reno visiting with his mother, but will be called early next week to fill the position of third class fireman.

W. A. Linder returned from San Francisco Wednesday, where he has spent a week resting up.

Francis Bennetts, who has been suffering from scarlet fever during the past three weeks, is able to be around his home and entirely recovered. Nothing further has been heard of two other cases reported last week in the northern part of town.

Pat Mulholland came from the county hospital in Woodland yesterday, where he has been for 96 days with a broken leg and other minor injuries. He brags a great deal about the treatment he received at the hospital and recommends it very favorably. Pat claims that his leg was broken in a fall when hit by Fred Hauser with a wrench and threatens to sue Hauser for damages. He is over 70 years of age and is hobling around on crutches.

While being opened for the passage of a steamer last Saturday evening the machinery of the S. P. Bridge got out of order and the draw could not be closed. For about an hour it remained in that condition until electricians could be secured to fix the wiring. The bridge was built in 1911 and this is the first time anything has gone wrong to block traffic.

FOUNDATIONS ARE BEING EXCAVATED FOR HORST DEHYDRATING PLANT IN SACRAMENTO

EXTENSION OF SPUR TRACK HAS BEEN COMPLETED AND LUMBER WILL BE PLACED ON THE GROUND NEXT MONDAY

A. H. Markwart, engineer and architect for the Northern Electric and who has been in Sacramento during the past few days, is authority for the statement that the Horst dehydrating plant in West Sacramento will be rushed to completion as fast as men and material can be found for its construction.

The plant is located on the river levee, south of the Northern Electric bridge about 1500 feet and will project over the river to a great extent. It will be of similar construction to that of the Sacramento Valley Dock and Warehouse but of a more permanent character and nearly as fireproof as possible.

Details of the construction have not yet been completed but the main outlines of the building have been laid and even at this moment excavations are being made for the foundation.

The sand levee is of sufficient strength to uphold any structure placed thereon because during several years past, it has had sufficient time to settle permanently.

For a time it was believed that the foundation of the Sacramento Valley Dock and Warehouse was not sufficiently packed to hold the great weights placed thereon. Since its construction, however, there has been no settling, although thousands of tons of beans are stored in the warehouse.

The spur track extension from the electric bridge now approaches West Sacramento headquarters and nearly at the foot of Y street in Sacramento.

It is at this point that the seed-cleaning plant of the Valley Seed Company will be located.

A concrete roadway, similar to that now leading to the bean warehouse will be extended for the accommodation of the dehydrating plant, the seed-cleaning plant and the rice mill.

For the construction of the rice mill, final arrangements have not yet been made, although the industry is assured for this locality. War conditions permitting, this section of Yolo County will be a bee-hive of industry during the coming summer months and following the construction of these great plants employing hundreds of men and women, the activity at this side of the river, promised for so long and so deeply anticipated, will be realized.

LIBERTY LEAGUE MEETING LAST TUESDAY WAS ALIVE WITH FERVOR

A very enthusiastic Liberty League meeting was held last Tuesday in the Town Hall in Washington and several new members were added to the roll.

The meeting was enlivened by a spirited address made by Rev. W. E. Bobbitt of Woodland, who has been active throughout Yolo County in the formation of several branch leagues.

Rev. Bobbitt spoke so interestingly that he was applauded many times and made a lasting impression on his hearers.

Following him Martin I. Welch, Federal Judge in Sacramento, made another stirring address, which was equally well received and which added considerably to the enthusiasm.

Welsh is a candidate for District Attorney in Sacramento County, but has been devoting a great deal of his time to patriotic work destined to promote loyalty to the Stars and Stripes.

He is one of the Four-Minute speakers who has been talking to motion picture audiences in Sacramento and has made lasting impressions on his hearers.

THIRTY DAYS FOR DEFILING FLAG

Last Friday in Judge Malcolm Glenn's court in Sacramento Henry Nenn, a resident of Riverbank and an employee of a cannery at Sixth and G streets, was sentenced to thirty days in jail for wiping his hands on the American flag.

He had just started to defile the flag when he was stopped by a girl who witnessed his act.

He is in the Sacramento jail serving his sentence, because his offense was committed there.

ACQUITTED WITHOUT MALICE FOR BUYING JUNK FROM MINORS

Last Monday a jury in Judge Barry's court composed almost entirely of women acquitted J. Trudell, familiarly known as "Junky Jack," on the charge of buying junk from minors.

The warrant for his arrest had been sworn to by Probation Officer Powers and the case was prosecuted vehemently by District Attorney C. C. McDonald. Trudell acted as his own attorney and presented his case to the jury in a few but forceful words.

The District Attorney branded junk dealers as thieves, but the jury was not influenced by this accusation.

After considerable deliberation a verdict of not guilty was returned.

Only three men served on the jury, the balance being women, with their homes being located in Washington.

Those serving on the jury were: Mrs. H. Eugene, Mrs. P. Graves, Mrs. F. De Reso, Mrs. C. A. Kiff, Mrs. W. McClure, Mrs. W. Parkinson, Mrs. O. P. Cook, Mrs. J. Peterson, Mrs. B. Porter, W. Parkinson, W. McClure, Sam Steuben.

THROUGH TICKETS WILL BE SOLD TO KNIGHTS LANDING

Commencing May 1st the Northern Electric Railroad announces that through tickets will be sold over the road from Sacramento and other points to Knights Landing in connection with the auto stage operated by F. H. Anderson out of Woodland.

Baggage can be checked through also.

The stage will meet several trains daily going and coming from the river towns.

A similar arrangement has been made with auto stages operating out of Chico to Westwood and Chester.

This will be a great accommodation for passengers destined to those points.

SCHOOL CLOSED BY EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES

During the past week the public school in Riverbank has been closed by an epidemic of measles in the district.

In all more than fifty cases were reported, while twenty-five, mostly children, are still sick.

The school trustees ordered the closing of the school in order to prevent the spread of the disease, with the result that only tweny-five are still under quarantine.

One child, Mary Hale, is still very low, following a spell, and physicians doubt her recovery.

The Yolo Independent is on sale at Gray's News Agency, 429 K street, Sacramento, and at the Post Office in Washington.

BIG IMPROVEMENT MADE TO WASHINGTON FRONT LEVEE

Under the direction of Supervisor Leinberger a gang of men has been busy during the past week on the levee fronting Washington, north of the electric bridge as far as Margaret Street.

This stretch of levee consisting of saud was thrown up two years ago by a clam shell dredger, and has stood in its original form a bar to pedestrians during all that time.

It was absolutely impossible to walk over this stretch of levee. During the summer it was so hot and slippery that dogs and horses could not make a passage through and in the winter it was too sloppy for use.

Many promises had been made that it would be put in shape for travelers, human beings, but nothing was done until the early part of this week.

As the levee stands now it makes a fairly passable walk with a crown about fifteen feet.

Later on when sediment can be secured near the river bed it is the intention of the supervisor to cover the sand with a coating that will make a splendid pathway.

This will encourage sightseers from Sacramento who formerly used this stretch of levee frequently but who have lately given up trying to walk from one bridge to the other because of the condition of the levee.

On Sunday afternoons hundreds of people cross either one of the bridges to recross on the other. This is only a short walk for exercise and is well worth the trouble because of the splendid view of the river to be secured thereby.

CHILD'S DEATH RESULT OF SEVERE CASE OF MEASLES

Police log

April 11, 2:13 a.m.

A Solano St. man reported finding an elderly female wandering the street disoriented, and detained her and called police. The woman remembered her first name, but appeared physically and mentally disabled. Yolo County officials took custody of her and located her daughter, who picked her up.

April 11, 12:18 a.m.

An officer observed a security guard at a West Capitol nightclub yell that there was a fight, and saw a 24-year old Sacramento man punch the guard. The officer used pepper spray on the suspect and separated him from the guard. The suspect was arrested.

April 11, 12:50 a.m.

Police received a report that shots were fired near Enterprise Blvd. and the freeway. They found nothing suspicious.

April 11, 2:25 p.m.

A naked female was reported causing a disturbance on Third Street. Police located her. She was determined to be a manic depressive subject who had not taken her medication, and was placed on a psychiatric hold. She was combative to officers.

April 11, 5 p.m.

Police received an anonymous tip about an individual manufacturing narcotics on Glide Ave. The man was determined to be on parole, and the parole officer authorized a search. Police found a "boxed up" drug making kit, including chemicals, paraphernalia and glass equipment. The Yolo County narcotics task force continued the investigation. A female at the site was cited and released.

May 11, 11:55 p.m.

An officer saw a cloud of smoke in a sandy area near South River Road, and found a car engulfed in flames. The car was determined to be an unreported stolen car from Sacramento, and an accelerant was apparently used for the fire. The vehicle was a total loss.

April 12, 1:10 a.m.

The mother-in-law of a 32-year old man placed him under citizen's arrest and turned him over to police for violating a restraining order and returning to her Taber St. home.

The man had been served with the restraining order by the woman, and had also been verbally warned by an officer.

He was jailed.

Sahib, which is written in poetry in Punjabi dialects as well as Sanskrit and Persian. It is the only major scripture which was compiled by founders of a faith during their lifetime.

The Sikh people also have strong beliefs about participating in the improvement of the communities in which they live. They believe that sharing with the less fortunate is a very important part of being a good Sikh and they wish for the prosperity of all others during their daily prayers.

"We are very proud of our Sikh temple in West Sacramento," said Pargan Singh. "We are a hard-working, peaceful people, and the citizens of West Sacramento have been very nice to us. I have lived in this community for 32 years and I have seen our temple continue to grow and serve more and more members of our faith. On special occasions, we have had as many as 5,000 Sikhs come to the temple from all over northern California. Our hope is that our neighbors will continue to get to know and like us, and once again, I would like to invite everyone to come and join us in our 300th year celebration of Khalsa."

threshold is $47.

"When voters were asked if they would support a school bond measure that would cost them more than $47 per year," said Thorn, "support began to fall below the two-thirds needed for passage. This was especially true among high-propensity voters, and it suggests that although West Sacramento will support a school bond measure, our data shows that it has to be reasonable and specifically directed towards the district's needs."

Other conclusions from the telephone survey mentioned by Mr. Thorn were that female voters in West Sacramento were approximately ten percent more supportive of a school bond than men; that more than 80 percent of parents of children in the district will vote for the measure; that both Democrats and Republicans support the idea; that zip code 95605 (which has 5,160 voters) is nine percent more supportive than zip code 95691 (which has 10,226 voters); that voters have some concerns when it comes to trusting WUSD administrators and the Board of Education to properly manage district finances; and that voters are not very enthusiastic about spending bond money to purchase land for a new high school site.

"The survey was very encouraging," said Dr. Dennis Kelleher, WUSD Superintendent of Schools. "It clearly shows that the community is aware of our needs and is willing to help us, but it also shows that there are limits and concerns, and that's the way it should be. If the Board of Education does decide to ask the voters of West Sacramento to pass a school bond measure in the near future, it should be for priority projects only and cost the taxpayers the lowest amount of dollars possible."

"What the survey tells me," said Irene Eklund, a member of the WUSD Board of Education, "is that the voters want us to renovate our existing structures, build new facilities only if they are absolutely needed, get as much state matching money as possible, wait on building a new high school, and be extremely careful how we spend bond money. But overall, the results of the survey couldn't have been much better and I'm looking forward to doing everything I can to move the process forward. There's still questions that have to be answered, like can we lower that $47 number ever further, and just how much matching money can we expect to get from the state, but things are definitely moving in the right direction and I'm very excited."

Former Yolo County Supervisor Clark Cameron, who is a member of the Steering Committee, said, "The survey makes the committee's task very simple. The taxpayers have told us they understand there is a need for improved facilities and they want to help, but only if the price is right and if the funds are properly managed. It's now our job to make a recommendation to the Board of Education which will reflect what we've learned from the survey, and hopefully we'll be able to do that by the end of our next meeting."

In addition to Cameron and Eklund, members of the West Sacramento School Bond Task Force Steering Committee include City Councilman Bill Kristoff, City Manager Joe Goeden, Yolo County Supervisor Mike McGowan, community members Dan Ramos, Joey Brown, Bryan Turner, Don Hill, Jasmine Taunk, Danny Clayton, Julie Dennis, Daryl Fisher, Karl Machschefes, Julie Hart Martin, Steve Palmer, Diane Pleinis, Nicole Ring, Rebecca Sage, Tina Starr, and Sandy Westlake, WUSD Board of Education member Dave Farmer, WUSD administrators Diane Smith, Linda Langtry, and Ken Whittemore, and WUSD employees Josie Andre, Melody Bosley, Kathy Collins, Estella DeLaTorre, Alex Sameryuk, Dave Sidhu and Jon West.

The next meeting of the Steering Committee is scheduled for April 29th at the River City High School library. It is expected that final recommendations will come from that meeting, including whether the school district should try to pass a bond measure and exactly how much funding is needed to modernize existing facilities. Should the Board of Education vote to put a school bond before the voters, it would likely be on the ballot next November.

PUBLIC HEARING AND DRAFT PLAN PUBLICATION

The Yolo County Private Industry Council will conduct a public hearing to allow the general public to review and comment on the 1999-2000 Job Training Modification. Funds for this program are provided by the Federal Department of Labor (DOL) through the State Employment Development Department. For 1999-2000 program years, the Yolo County Community Partnership Agency's estimated planning allocations are: Title IIA Adult (77%) $516,913; IIC Youth $73, 977; Title III (Displaced Workers) $692,194; Title IIA (5% Older Workers) $28,631; and Title IIB (Summer Youth Employment Training Program) $590,351. All funding estimates are subject to change due to further action by the Department of Labor.

In compliance with State regulations, the Yolo County Community Partnership Agency has developed a modification to the 1998-2000 Job Training Plan which describes the Yolo County Community Partnership Agency JTPA employment and training programs for the 1999-2000 two year period. Training activities will include classroom training, on-the-job training and work experience. Limited internships are available for youth only. At least 65% of both youth and adults (non Title III) must fit into one or more of the hard to serve categories. Dislocated workers (Title III) are eligible for readjustment and retraining activities.

Persons who have questions or wish to testify may write to Lisa Tadlock at the Community Partnership Agency, 112 West Main Street, Woodland, CA 95695 or telephone between 8:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m. at (530) 661-2939 to reserve time to testify. Wildlife care, anyone?

April showers bring...baby birds! Have you ever wondered what to do with or whom to call about baby birds falling out of nests, squirrels that run amuck, or other injured or orphaned wildlife that find their way to your yard? Do you have close encounters with wildlife with whom you would prefer not to associate? On Saturday, May 1, at 3 p.m., at the Arthur F. Turner Branch of the Yolo County Library, volunteer wildlife rehabilitators from Sacramento Wildlife Care Association will give a presentation about these very issues and answer your questions. They will bring birds and a reptile that were not releasable to give you a personal view of what we so often see only from afar. You and your children will not want to miss this special event, sponsored by the East Yolo Friends of the Library.
